Twice a Week.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, November 16, 1912.
Personally appeared Neil S. Perry, who on oath declares: That he is pressman in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of November 15, 1912, there was printed a total of 4,472 copies. Before me:
J. W. CROCKER
Notary Public.

We believe the country is generally worn out with politics and wishing to drop the matter, waiting patiently upon the incoming Democratic administration, willing to give it a fair show and basing the direction of a further activity upon the working out of that party's attempts at governing. As to what becomes of the Republican and Progressive parties it is too early to predict. Time is needed for the hot and zealous in both the camps to cool down to a point of reasonable comfort where it is possible through friendly argument and mutual conciliation to get upon some common ground. The Republican party contains too many of the elements of strength and greatness to go down before the recent winds of assault. Perhaps it is a party destined in the process of political evolution to merge into some other party—we do not know, it is too early to decide that question. We simply wish to register our conviction that it will be the Republican party in the end that remains to face and discipline its now happy and confident enemies of the Democracy. But let us not be in too much of a hurry. We see that Colonel Roosevelt reiterates his charge that the Chicago convention committed a theft. There are a number of million of Republicans who refuse to acknowledge this charge and they are not to be won over to the third term doctrine by cudegling. So let's wait. Let's cool down.

The Courier-Gazette has always been the friend of the Young Men's Christian Association because we saw in its work something addressed definitely to the making of better and manlier boys and young men. It is the only agency in Rockland that in the past quarter of a century has been positively directed toward improving the boys of the city upon their physical, mental and spiritual sides. Every citizen knows how many and how potent are the agencies that are busy here every day and night, the influences of which are deteriorating. The Y. M. C. A. makes better citizens. That is why the sound business men and corporations throughout the country are willingly contributing millions of dollars every year for the support and forward march of the institution. The work needs to take on its modern aspect in Rockland. We believe that as a pure business investment our people should be glad to make this possible. In comparison with the sums raised in other cities of this size the amount of money needed here is trifling. The active friends of the present movement in Rockland are working hard, under some burden of anxiety, but they are inspired by the belief that our people will in the end heartily respond to this appeal made in behalf of the boys and young men of the community.

A CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

Business Men Organize a Strong Working Force to Finance Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association is soon to conduct a two days' campaign, which will have for its definite purpose the raising of $3500 to cover expenses of the coming year, and if possible to raise an extra thousand dollars for needed equipment and an emergency fund.

The financial statement shows that in an institution of this sort there are many ways in which money can and must be spent. Included in the current expense list are the following: Light, heat and water; office expenses—postage, telephone, stationery and equipment; salaries—general secretary, assistant, janitor, etc.; Religious Conference, Men's and Boys' meetings, Bible Study, Teacher Training, Library, and extension of Y. M. C. A. physical department—equipment, supplies, etc.; educational—lectures, periodicals, etc.; social for men and boys, games and game supplies; furniture and repairs, insurance, painting building and miscellaneous.

Of the extra thousand dollars, which the Association hopes to raise $600 is required for needed equipment for educational class work, gymnasium and entertaining men of the navy; and $400 is needed for an emergency fund.

The business men's committee to which this important task has been entrusted is composed of L. N. Little, chair, chairman, W. I. Ayer, C. S. Beveridge, R. W. Bickford, E. H. Crie, A. W. Gregory, J. C. Perry, E. M. Stubbs and J. A. Richan.

The above members will be captains of as many teams, each of which will have seven members, selected by the captains. Arthur B. Richardson will also organize a team for work among the young men of the city.

In this fight for funds the city will be raked with a fine-toothed comb, and nobody will be slighted.

MARRIED HALF CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith Observe Anniversary with Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, who are among the best known residents of Rockland Highlands, made their 50 years of married life the occasion of a happy golden wedding celebration Monday. Although the family connections are not numerous, as old Rockland families are reckoned, the couple's friends are counted on a very broad scale. A dinner party was a pleasant feature of the day. A number of gold pieces were among the remembrances received by the couple.

Mr. Smith has always lived in sight of his birthplace at Blackington's Corner, where he was born Jan. 20, 1841. His parents were Charles and Jane (Watson) Smith. He has combined the occupations of farming and carpentering, and his handiwork has been seen in the construction of many Rockland residences. He has been a lifelong Republican, and a member of the Masonic fraternity almost half a century. He has never indulged in smoking. His general health is exceptionally good.

Mrs. Smith's maiden name was Elmira Maxcy. She was born Nov. 9, 1839 in Warren, a daughter of Daniel and Catherine (Blood) Maxcy. Her life has been essentially that of a home body. She has never traveled beyond the limits of her own state, and her husband has never lacked hot biscuits because of her attendance at women's clubs. She is very fond of company, however, and keeps well in touch with current affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married at Hope Corner, Nov. 11, 1862, by Squire Joseph Hobbs. Their surviving children are Austin W. Smith, Mrs. Walter H. Spear and Luther L. Smith, all of this city. There are two grandchildren.

EIGHT MUSICAL STARS

The Boston Imperials Will Open Rockland's Entertainment Course—Big Hit in Auburn.

The entertainment course under the auspices of the Baptist Men's League opens at Temple hall next Tuesday evening, on which occasion the patrons will have an opportunity to hear the Boston Imperials, headed by Evangeline Hiltz, prima donna soprano. The Imperials were also chosen to open the lyceum course given by the Auburn Board of Trade, and of their appearance there Tuesday night the Lewiston Sun had the following to say:

"The company was made up of eight artists all stars in their particular line. The concert, which they presented lasted for over an hour and each artist responded to encores. The selections varied from the classical of today to the old favorites of yesterday, thus appealing to both classes."

"Miss Hiltz as the prima donna soprano, captured the house with a fine rendering of 'Charmant Oiseau' sung in French. The ease with which she reached the highest notes and clear voice brought down the house. She responded to encores twice."

"The work of the quartet without instrumental music was fine but their work with the piano, flute, harp and violin was best. Each member of the quartet contributed solos of old time favorites, the quartet joining in the chorus."

"Phyllis Hammond, the harpist, came to Auburn highly recommended and she disappointed none with her selections on the harp. She responded to an encore with a catchy tune which drew forth a generous amount of applause. The ease with which she played the instrument was remarkable and she was above the expectations of her audience."

"Miss Alberta Florence, with her violin solos, especially with 'Meditation' from 'Thais' was heartily applauded. The work of Philip Morse, the flutist of the company, was also a feature as was every number on the program. If any conclusion can be

Years of Suffering

Catarrah and Blood Disease—Doctors Failed to Cure.

Miss Mabel P. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette St., Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarrah and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person and recommend Hood's to any one suffering from these troubles."

drawn from the applause and expression of the audience, the first in the series was a complete success.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the organs of assimilation. Nine people out of ten in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy, should use Samose. The great flesh-forming food and health restorer. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets, and see how your weight increases from week to week.

Samose does not contain a particle of starch or pepsin, nor is it any nauseating preparation, such as is usually recommended to make people fat and which does not build up good healthy tissues. Samose has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the whole system, helps the food that is eaten to be assimilated in a natural manner and absolutely restores health to all the organs.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Samose, C. H. Pendleton will return your money without any quibbling—Advt.

Catarrah, an excessive secretion from an inflamed mucous membrane, is radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla—Advt.

WARREN'S NEW PASTOR

Congregationalist Church Has a Minister Ordained as Its Head.

A council was held at the Congregationalist church, Warren, Wednesday, to ordain David T. Burgh, its newly called pastor, into the ministry. It was organized by the choice of Rev. George M. Woodwell of South Bristol as Moderator and Rev. R. L. Sheaff of Newcastle as scribe. Most of the churches invited were represented by pastor or delegate or both. Mrs. Linscott, who represented the Thomaston church, was the only lady delegate.

The evidences of Mr. Burgh's graduation from Bowdoin College and Bangor Seminary, as well as his certificate that, beside the regulars, he had taken a special course at the latter institution, were presented. In addition to these Professor Lyman who represented the Seminary informed the Council that the candidate had maintained a high standing in scholarship and gained a high reputation as a Christian character. The examination was eminently satisfactory as was the statement read by Mr. Burgh of his experience and belief. It appeared that he was born in a Christian home in Glasgow, Scotland, where he lived until he was four years old, when his parents removed to Westbrook, Maine, which has since been his home and where his mother still lives. He appears to have followed his career with great interest. It was unanimously voted by the Council to proceed to the ordination which had been set for the evening.

The evening services were well attended notwithstanding that the night was dark with a pouring rain. The following program was observed:

Voluntary—Rev. A. J. McLeod, Waldoboro
Invocation—Rev. Mr. McLeod
Hymn—The Church's One Foundation
Scripture—Eugene W. Lyman, D. D.
Sermon—Bangor Theological Seminary
Ordaining Prayer—Dori A. Hudson, Westbrook
Solo—"The Trinity"—Soloist, Miss Grace Walker
Charge to the Minister—Rev. Omar W. Folsom, Bath
Right Hand of Fellowship—Rev. Robert L. Sheaff, Newcastle
Address to the People—Rev. Lewis D. Evans, Camden
Hymn Number—Rev. David T. Burgh
Benediction

The sermon by Professor Lyman was of marked ability. The subject was the hardship of Christ based upon Christian service. The prayer by Mr. Hudson, pastor of the young minister's home church, was very tender and touching. He, Professor Lyman, said Mr. Woodwell the pastor were the three clergymen who laid hands on his head as the man was solemnly dedicated to the Christian ministry.

Mr. Burgh appears to have won the hearts of all the people in the few weeks he has been with them. He comes to them as a man of fine mental and physical training and of strong spirituality and earnestness. Much is justly expected from his pastorate.

McLAUGHLIN'S PROMOTION

Rockland's Station Agent Goes to Waterville as Assistant Superintendent—Waterville Man Succeeds Him

Thomas M. McLaughlin, who completed this month his 11th year as Maine Central station agent in this city, has been appointed assistant to Supt. F. E. Sanborn with headquarters at Waterville, to which city he went Wednesday afternoon.

The large business of the Rockland station, which has increased by leaps and bounds since Mr. McLaughlin came here, has been handled by him with unusual success, and although he did not know it, the Maine Central has had him in view for an important promotion as soon as the opportunity offered.

A more surprised man did not exist in Rockland last Saturday than Tom McLaughlin, when the proposition was first put up to him. Mr. McLaughlin has had 28 years of railroad experience. Prior to coming here he had been agent three years at North Conway and nine years at Lunenburg, Vt. Back of that was his experience as operator or agent at Greenbush, Lincoln, Benton and Fabyans. He was operator on Connecticut work at Fabyans, when the Maine Central built its line from there to Scott's Junction.

Mr. McLaughlin, during his 11 years' residence here has been a prominent worker in the Catholic church, Knights of Columbus, Elks, etc., and entered into his social activities with the same enthusiasm that he did in his daily work. Because of that his many friends will voice deep regret at his departure and that of his excellent family which follows him to Waterville.

Mr. McLaughlin is succeeded here by Elmer E. Cummings, who has been freight agent at Waterville, and a good many years in the service. He was telegraph operator at Mattawamkeag when Tom was in Lincoln, and the friendship began there they have always maintained.

If looks and ruggedness count, the new Rockland agent will surely fill the bill.

Talk of the Town

The Methodist Brotherhood has its monthly meeting next Monday night. Lewiston and Auburn were more than pleased with the Boston Impertials.

C. E. Golding has contracted to build a house for Henry B. and Alan L. Bird on Broadway.

Colon B. Strout of Millbridge and Louisa F. Small of Rockland have filed marriage intentions at the city clerk's office.

There will be a religious meeting at the city almshouse Sunday at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. E. S. Ufford. The services will be public.

O. A. Tolman has purchased the Rockland restaurant on Limerock street, and after thoroughly renovating it will open to the public a first-class cafe.

Members of Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S., will leave Masonic hall in carriages at 4:30 p. m. Monday, Nov. 18, for South Thomaston to visit Forget-Me-Not Chapter.

General Manager Hawken is attending the annual meeting of the Telephone Pioneers of America. He was for 10 years superintendent of telephone construction in the vicinity of Salem, Mass. This was in the early 80s.

A song and poem in pantomime will be an interesting feature of the entertainment at the Universalist fair next Wednesday evening.—The Junior Union is arranging a very attractive doll table in connection with the fair.

Allison M. MacFarland, recently acquitted in New Jersey of wife murder, pleaded guilty to counterfeiting in the United States district court in New York Wednesday, and was sentenced to one and one-half years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

The Baptist Men's League will elect officers at its monthly meeting Wednesday night. There will be a speaker, but arrangements had not been completed in season for an announcement in this issue. The matter of course ticket sales will receive consideration.

At a postponed business meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. B. Miller; secretary, Mrs. R. W. Bickford; treasurer, Mrs. W. O. Butler; presidents, Free Baptist, Mrs. Eva Snow; Baptist, Miss Bertha Orbeton; Congregational, Mrs. E. M. Stubbs; Universalist, Mrs. George L. St. Clair; Episcopal, Mrs. George W. Smith; Methodist, Mrs. Alden Elmer.

E. F. Glover, of the W. H. Glover Co., has been on a trip this week to Philadelphia, where he closed a contract to build a house for Theodore Frothingham at Dark Harbor. The contract price is $25,000 and work will begin at once under the direction of Charles Morton. The Glover Co. has on hand a total of $40,000 in Dark Harbor work, which will keep it busy at that point this winter.

Isidor Green, one of the proprietors of the chain of 5 and 10 cents stores, was badly bruised and shaken in an automobile accident at Tyngsboro, Mass., last week. Mr. Green and party were returning from Manchester, N. H., where they had attended the opening of a new branch. He was driving the touring car, when the glare of a motorcycle light dazzled him, causing him to swerve to the right and when he attempted to cut back on the road the car skidded and overturned.

G. D. Parmenter, who has been engaged in the boot and shoe business here for about 15 years, leaves next Monday for South Framingham, Mass., where he will establish a similar business in an excellent location. His Rockland store, which has been in the market for some months, will be continued under the management of Manley Hart. Mr. Parmenter's attractive residence on Broadway, built within a few years, has been purchased by Arthur P. Haines, who is now moving in.

The Portland Press, commenting on the accident at Friendship where by Capt. Elmer Little lost his left arm says: "In the terrible accident, Capt. Little has the sympathy of the many skippers and others along the coast who knew him. He has always been regarded as one of the best natured and most capable captains on the coast. The present season had not been the best one for him in his own schooner, the Storm King, and he was looking forward to a prosperous year in the E. T. Hamor on the run from Portland to Friendship and neighboring ports."

The Rockland Commercial College opened with about the usual enrollment last September, and there has been a large registration during the past two weeks. The outlook is good for a very successful year. The out-of-town pupils who have entered recently are: Martha Mayo, South-west Harbor; A. E. Ames, Union; Henry A. Mallet, Spruce Head; Austin R. Kinney, St. George; G. A. Robinson, Waldoboro; Marguerite Broadman and Bertha Newbert, Warren; Owen L. Treat, Harry E. Walls and Eugene H. Young, Vinalhaven; Ada M. Farrington and Lottie Smith, Thomaston; Gladys Clark, Mary G. Dodge and Gladys Dodge, Camden; Edmund K. Perry, Appleton; Shirley Snow, Owl's Head.

Nicholas La Torre, a first-class shoemaker, with nine years' experience in Boston, has opened a repair shop at 342 Main street, in the A. J. Small block.—Adv.

The Democratic rally has been postponed to next Monday night.

George B. Casey has moved into the tenement at 21 Summer street. Charles A. Thurston will move to the Whitney tenement which he vacates.

Deputy Marshal Barter and Special Officer Fernald dropped in Thursday afternoon upon W. H. Grant who was evidently not looking for callers on such a stormy day. In consequence the cops corralled a considerable quantity of beer, ale and hard stuff. Mr. Grant was invited to call upon Judge Hurley this Friday morning.

It now looks as though fully 100 covers would be laid for the Board of Trade banquet at the Thorndike hotel this Friday evening. These gatherings in the past have always been famed for their sociability, and few active business men absent themselves if they can possibly prevent. The music and timely speeches are looked for.

It has been decided to perpetuate the Republican Club, which was organized during the Presidential campaign, and with that end in view the cosy and commodious quarters located on the corner of Cedar and Brewer streets, and lately by the Progressives, will be leased. The equipment, which includes an excellent billiard table, and fine set of cues, will be purchased, and with other privileges will be at the disposal of members throughout the approaching winter, when such a place is a very pleasant haven indeed. The membership will be limited to no faction or faction of the party, but will be open to all voters who have been affiliated with the Republican party in the past and desire to abide by its principles in the future. Due announcement will be made as to the opening of the club room.

The campaign for the local postmaster appointment had its active beginning this week, when Oliver B. Lovejoy circulated a petition among the business men. While some derided the campaign, others are beginning to take it seriously. It is understood that Mr. Lovejoy secured a large number of signatures and gets a good start in the race, providing numerical strength is to have an important bearing. The Wise Ones profess to believe that Senator Gardner is the man who will have the say—or, in case he is not a member of the Senate at that time, that Mr. Gardner and Congressman McGillicuddy will be the ones to settle the contest. Republicans have no inside knowledge on the matter and good cause for their fight. Cornelius Doherty, Philip Howard and Judge Hurley are understood to be receptive candidates, to say the least. It is also quietly whispered that the appointment would not be displeasing to County Treasurer D. M. Murphy. Formal announcements from some or all of these gentlemen will probably be made before many moons. Postmaster Butler's term expires one year from next April.

Domenico Teti, who was pardoned by the governor and council Monday afternoon, returned to his home in this city early the following day, having been deprived of his liberty 5 years and 8 months, 28 months of which were spent in the county jail, awaiting the result of the appeal to Law Court. The feeling was always very general that Teti's guilt was not proven, and several of the jurors subsequently declared that they would not have voted for conviction if they had fully understood that it meant life imprisonment. Teti was unquestionably deserted by the Boston attorney who took charge of his case and cash. Thomas Anastasi, the well known barber, personally interested himself in the matter, and obtained hundreds of local signatures to the petition asking for the pardon. Teti's counsel in this move was Senator Staples. Domenico Teti is now 37. He had been in this country 13 years at the time Rafael Conforto was shot, but was not conversant with the English language. In prison he has learned to speak with some fluency and has also learned the saddle-maker's trade. He was never punished while in prison and is well spoken of by the officials. He, in turn is well satisfied with his treatment there, and speaks with especial warmth of Deputy Warden Bucklin. Teti is much pleased to regain his liberty, and is brimming with gratitude to all who have helped bring it about.

WASHINGTON

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Overlock was the scene of a quiet wedding Tuesday evening, Nov. 5th, when Freddie Pease and Miss Melisa M. Caswell both of Appleton were united in marriage by Mr. Overlock.

Mrs. Elmira Jones and grandson, Leslie Savage, returned from Augusta Thursday where the latter had been treated for an ulcer on his eye by Dr. Turner.

State Sunday School Missionary, Willard E. Overlock is working in Union, Warren, Thomaston and St. George. Mrs. Overlock accompanied him on this trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Light have been visiting relatives and friends in Augusta and Week's Mills for the past few weeks.

Alden Boynton and son Chester visited at W. E. Overlock's recently. They have purchased the machinery of the Colby Mill at East Palermo and are moving it to their mill in South Jefferson.

Mrs. C. M. Berry is visiting relatives at Week's Mills and Palermo Center.

Mrs. Nora Brown of Augusta is visiting relatives and friends here for a few days.

Mrs. Alfred Poland has purchased the entire stock of millinery of Mrs. W. M. Staples and has taken possession of the store formerly occupied by Mrs. Staples. Mrs. Poland is very popular and will do a thriving business.

The supper under the direction of the ladies of the Methodist church held in the banquet hall of the Masonic hall Thursday evening was well attended.

Fred Overlock, son of Joseph Overlock of South Liberty died almost instantly early Friday morning from a hemorrhage of the lungs. He was in his usual health when he received Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orris Turner at West Washington where he has worked at times for several years. Mr. Turner heard him making a strange noise in the night and went to his room where he found him bleeding profusely from the mouth and he lived only a few minutes. Dr. Nash of Jefferson was summoned but he could lend no aid as he had been dead some time when the doctor arrived.

Mrs. Mary Cunningham who has been keeping house for Mrs. Elmira Jones while she has been in Augusta got up in the night to let the dog out and on returning went in the cellar door instead of the bedroom door and fell down cellar injuring her very badly. She is 76 years of age and her recovery is doubtful. She is attended by Dr. Nash.

Dr. Pierpont who has been sick with malarial fever for several weeks is convalescent.

The vote in Washington stood Wilson 91, Taft 24, Roosevelt 57, Chafin 0, Debs 3. The Democrats have fallen off 61 since September 1910.

cannot properly masticate solid foods and digestion is often upset—they do not receive the needed nourishment to make strength and preserve health, but if aged people everywhere could only realize the strength-sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion they would take it after every meal.

It possesses the nourishing elements of cod liver oil, the vital powers of the hypophosphites of lime and soda and the curative qualities of glycerine, all so perfectly combined that nature immediately appropriates them to create strength, nourish the organs and build the body. It relieves rheumatism and ailments due to declining years. It adds to the span of life.

Health Talks.

By Dr. True

We must trace sickness back to its source. We must ask the question, "Whence comes my sickness?"

My practice as a physician showed that nine-tenths of human sickness, from infancy to old age, comes from stomach or bowels being out of order.

Headaches, tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, specks before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness stop if you treat the stomach and bowels right and get them into working order.

Look first to the stomach and bowels. Get them working right and health will be yours.

My prescription, known as Dr. True's Elixir, has done wonders for sick people, because it is the one remedy that you can rely on to set things right in the stomach and bowels.

Costs 35c, 50c and $1.00 and is sold by all druggists, big or little, everywhere. Druggists, as a rule, are very honest. They do not try to substitute something else for Dr. True's Elixir, because they know its value. Many druggists use it for their own families, for children or grown people.

INEXPERIENCE IN SPRAYING

Is Why There Are Less No. 1 Apples This Year, Says State Horticulturist Gardner.

State Horticulturist Albert K. Gardner of Rockland, who has just completed an extended trip through the state, during which he gave many demonstrations of apple packing and visited many different orchards, finds that the Maine crop of No. 1 apples is not as large this year as it was last. Says he: "This unfortunate condition is due in part to the inexperience of the farmers in spraying and in part to the very unfavorable season. Had more care been used in spraying the handicap of the unfavorable season might have been largely overcome. I estimate that there is not more than 30 per cent fancy fruit in the entire crop."

The Maine law governing the low grade fruit permitted to each barrel or box, fixes the limit at 10 per cent. That is too much and it hurts. Because of it the fruit going out of Maine to the big markets will be graded lower than ever before since we had any law at all. This might be overcome by strict grading, but the farmers won't practice strict grading yet.

The tendency to put wormy fruit into No. 1 apples has been on the increase since the 10 per cent rule became law. That could be overcome if the Department of Agriculture had the funds to enforce the law as it is. It is up to the men who are now doing first class work to agitate the enactment of first class laws.

FRIENDSHIP

The Ladies Aid met with Mrs. Clifford Bradford Tuesday and the Baptist Circle with Mrs. John Mitchell Thursday.

Rodney Thompson of Rockland has been in town for a few days. Dwight Linekin while working in South Warren in the woods got hurt quite badly. He is able to be out on crutches.

Miss Hazel Mitchell was a recent guest at Rufus Condon's.

Mrs. Alice Simmons has returned from Thomaston.

Capt. Little while working at the engine on board his vessel last Sunday morning caught his coat sleeve in the gears and his left arm was pulled from his body. Mrs. Little rowed him ashore where he was taken to the home of Irving Burns where Dr. Spear of Rockland and Dr. Hahn were called. He was taken to the hospital. Capt. Little is from New Harbor.

"Tells the Whole Story"

To say that Foley's Honey & Tar Compound is best for children and grown persons and contains no opiates tells only part of the tale. Fuller-Herrick
The wedding of Tena Viola Herrick to Roy A. Fuller was performed at the bride's home on Washington street Tuesday evening at 8:30 before only the immediate families and a few friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard Corey, the single ring service being used, and they were unattended.

Immediately after the service a light lunch was served, after which the friends of the couple gave them a delicious surprise supper at their camp at Lake Meganticook, where they had gone for a few days, after which they left for Boston for a short visit.

The bride is one of Camden's popular young ladies while the groom is one of our smart young men in the employ of Hodgman & Co. clothiers, and has won the esteem of a wide circle of friends. The best wishes follow this young couple and congratulations from their many Camden friends are extended. They will reside on their return on Mechanic street where their home is already furnished.

Early Cushing Families

Tracing Ancestry of Charles S. Bird, Late Progressive Candidate for Governor of Massachusetts.

(Introduction: A few years ago I contributed a series of articles to The Courier-Gazette, covering the municipal and general history of the town of Cushing from its incorporation in 1789 to and including the year 1897. Since that time I have been industriously gathering material for a history of the "Early Families of Cushing," with the intention of publishing it in The Courier-Gazette as soon as its completeness would warrant. The families that have been the subject of my inquiry and investigation are Annis, Adams, Bird, Lewis, Falley, Burton, Maloney, Rivers, Robinson, Fogarty, Seavey, Henderson, Kerby, Rutherford, Furness, Hathorn, McCarter, Young, Parsons, Seavey, Gay, Payson, Norton, Page, Hyler, Malcolm, Kellerman, Page and Vose. I earnestly hope that all the descendants of these families will furnish me with such information that is possessed by them concerning their ancestors. The nomination of Charles Sumner Bird of Walpole, as the Progressive candidate for Governor of Massachusetts in the present year, makes the publication of a sketch of the "Bird Family" at this time of more than local or passing interest.—Frank B. Miller.

The American ancestor of Charles Sumner Bird was Andrew Bird, who came from Scotland to Cushing in 1753, and settled on a farm on St. Georges river, near what is now known as Bird Point. He married Jean Hathorn, a daughter of Alexander Hathorn, who was one of the earliest settlers of St. Georges lower town, now Cushing, coming there from Salem, Mass., about 1743. He was of the family as that of Nathaniel Hawthorne, the great American novelist, and known to fame as the author of "The Scarlet Letter." The family name was spelled Hathorn until the author inserted the w and added the final e. Mr. Bird was one of the six men who were stationed at the garrison house on Pleasant Point in 1758, the others being Dunbar Henderson as sergeant at one pound and ten shillings per month, and James Parsons, Lawrence Parsons, Alexander Hathorn and Richard Furness, as sentinels at 24 shillings each month. Mr. Bird was killed at Maple Juice Cove about 1770 by a falling tree. Sept. 28, 1779, Alexander Hathorn was appointed administrator of his estate, and Joshua Collamore of Meduncook, now Friendship, and Samuel Hathorn, father of Alexander, were the sureties on the bond of the administrator. An inventory of Mr. Bird's estate was made by Joshua Collamore and Paul Jameson, both of Meduncook, Dec. 14, 1779. His estate was appraised at 512 pounds and 14 shillings. The administrator filed his account Jan. 31, 1787. By the terms of the last will and testament of William Hathorn, executed Nov. 23, 1755, in presence of Daniel Lewis, William Smith and Moses Robinson, Jr., all of his estate, save three pounds, which he bequeathed to his son Alexander, was given to his granddaughter, Jean Hathorn, subject to the life estate of his wife's interest therein. His widow and granddaughter were named executors, but the former renounced executorship Feb. 24, 1764, and the latter described as Jean Bird, wife of Andrew Bird, March 6 of the same year. At his death Mr. Bird left seven children, five sons and two daughters: Samuel, Alexander, James, Andrew, George, Jean and Nancy or Anne, as sometimes written.

The archaeologist would find an interesting subject for investigation of the "underground passage" connected with the "pirate's cove" on Bird Point. This underground passage is best described by Almon W. Burr in a communication to the writer, under date of Dec. 5, 1906. An excavation was made in the summer of 1878 under the direction of Mr. Burr assisted by the late Capt. Samuel Hathorn who owned the farm on which the passage is located. At this time Mr. Burr was principal of the Hallowell Classical Academy, a special fitting school for Bowdoin College, and passed his summer vacations at the Hathorn House, Cushing, conducted by Capt. Hathorn. Mr. Burr is now principal of Beloit College Academy of Beloit, Wisconsin. Following is Mr. Burr's communication:

"I was spending my vacation with my family at the home of Capt. Hathorn, who lived on the point between St. Georges river and Maple Juice Cove. One day we were telling Capt. Hathorn of our finding a small beautiful cove which he said was called Kissing Cove. He then asked if we saw 'pirate's cellar' near the cove, and went on to say that he had once read in an old history of Warren that the house which once stood there used to be a rendezvous for pirates and from the cellar there was an underground passage by which the inmates of the house could escape if surprised by officers of the law. The pirates, he said, kept their boxes in Kissing Cove, which was so small and so inclosed by trees as not to be easily noticed from the river. Capt. Hathorn added that he had never been able to find any trace of such passage leading from the cellar to the shore.

"One afternoon, I think in the summer of 1878, I proposed to Capt. Hathorn that we take the necessary tools and try by excavating to find the passage. The cellar, as I recall, was some 400 feet a little west of north from the head of Kissing Cove. It was in a small open place, surrounded by spruce trees, and was clearly defined. The sides rose up as though the earth had been thrown out of the cellar and left. So high was the bank of earth that one wondered if earth from some tunnel had not been added. When you had mounted this sodded bank you looked down into a hole or pit with sloping sides some six feet deep in the center. In this pit grew a vigorous spruce tree some eight inches in diameter.

"As we explored the cellar for traces of the 'underground passage' we came upon a plainly marked depression some six or eight inches deep and about two feet wide, extending north from the cellar. We followed this off among the spruce trees some 300 feet or more. Two cross sections of this depression were made by digging—one about 100 feet north of the cellar, and another farther away. As we threw out the earth we found surface mold mixed with sand about two feet in depth as I recall the measurements which I made at that time. When this sand and soil had been thrown out the sides of the ditch were seen to be of sand which evidently had never been moved. There was loose sand at the bottom which had slipped in as the tunnel had filled up long ago. There were no traces of rotten boards or logs at the bottom of this ditch. It was evident that the passage was not intended for a drain for the depression led to higher ground and besides no drain was necessary in the sand.

"Our conclusions were that there had been some time a tunnel in the sand large enough for a man to crawl through on his hands and knees. The thick interlacing roots in the leaf mold of the forest formed the roof of the tunnel and this mold had afterwards fallen in. If the house hidden in the forest ever was the rendezvous of pirates or smugglers, the inmates, if it ever became necessary, could easily have escaped through the tunnel into the forest and have disappeared.

"Mrs. Burr and two of my children were with Capt. Hathorn and myself at the time and they corroborate my account of the exploration of the passage from the pirate's cellar. I was there in 1901 and the cellar was plainly visible, but the spruce tree had been cut."

"After an independent examination, conducted by myself, I am convinced that the house and underground passage were not used as headquarters by either pirates or smugglers. More likely the passage was constructed to afford means of escape from the house if an attack should be made by hostile Indians. I am left to believe and perhaps an Indian village. This that the cellar marked the early home of Andrew Bird, or one of the Hathorn family.

Memorials of the former presence of the aboriginal people may be traced to the large clam shell deposits on the Hathorn farm indicating a once numerous encampment.

deposit, in various stages of decay from the almost perfect shell at the surface to the black mold into which it has crumbled at the base, is about three rods wide, fourteen rods long, and from one to ten feet deep, situated on a beautiful sheltered plat looking towards the sun, and was the opinion of the late Rev. David Cushman, "the accumulation of ages." The site for an Indian settlement was usually selected where springs of water were easily accessible. Hathorn's Point was no exception to the general rule, as, at a short distance westward of the clam-shell deposits, a never failing spring of water, noted for its extreme coolness in summer, is found below the bank of Maple Juice Cove and close to high water mark.

Bird Point is now owned by Willis Gowdy of Thompsonville, Conn., and is picturesquely and favorably situated. Its southern extremity gives an unobstructed view of the ocean and many of the islands which lie between. About 600 yards to the westward is Hathorn's Point, which is gently sloping, bare of trees and grassy. Bird Point is the western point of the southern entrance to the "Narrows," which are formed by the two banks of the river suddenly approaching each other, leaving a passage from 500 to 600 yards wide, with 13 fathoms of water in this passage is about three-quarters of a mile long, entirely unobstructed, with steep shores on both sides, and has a strong tidal current. On the western bank of the river the shore is wooded, but above the "Narrows" it is for the most part cleared, but with somewhat steep slopes, and well settled.

After the year 1707, all trace of Samuel Bird and Andrew Bird is lost. Whether they left for parts unknown and had their footprints obliterated by the Sands of Time, or their time became extinct for failure to obey the Biblical injunction can best be left to the realm of conjecture. If any member of the Bird family, or any one interested in genealogical research can furnish any information concerning them or their descendants, if they left any, will be greatly appreciated by the writer. In the year above mentioned, Alexander Hathorn conveyed a lot of land to Samuel Bird, James Bird, Andrew Bird, George Bird, Jean Boggs, wife of John Boggs, and Anne Bird. They are described in the deed as "all the children of Andrew Bird, late of Cushing, deceased." This is manifestly a mistake as Alexander Bird was living in Warren at the time.

The premises conveyed are described as follows: "A certain tract or parcel of land lying in Cushing aforesaid on the westerly side of St. Georges River so called and bounded as follows to wit: Beginning at St. Georges River at the southerly line of lot of land belonging to Samuel Hathorn, thence running by said River to land belonging to said Alexander Hathorn so as to make thirty rods in width thence running back from said River a west, northwest course, keeping the said width of rods between said lots of land until it reaches Maple Juice Cove, so called, it being that part of lot No. 60, which lies between said St. Georges River and Maple Juice Cove aforesaid—with all the privileges and appurtenances to the same belonging." Frank B. Miller. (To be Continued)
